

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Sequentially input new document information is sorted and retained in a proper folder to facilitate search and retrieval of a desired document to follow.

- 5 To this end, a list of proper candidate folders is presented to a user to support user saving works. Discrimination between proper folders is made precise by using a search condition, to thereby make search of a desired document easy and reliable.